SPURN COMPROMISE

Peaceful Solution For Controversy Refused By Il Duce's Aides

GENEVA, Sept. 14. (AP)—Canada and Soviet Russia, embracing vast stretches of territory on opposite sides of the globe, joined the rally around the League of Nations covenant on the bitter Italo-Ethiopian quarrel today.

George Howard Ferguson, Canada's representative at Geneva, told the league assembly Canada cannot agree that any member of the league is warranted in resorting to war to enforce its claims.

"In violation of its solemn pledges to seek and find a peaceful settlement for every dispute."

"If unfortunately a peaceful solution cannot be reached, Canada will join other members of the league in considering how, by unanimous action, peace can be maintained," Mr. Ferguson said.

Spokesmen for the Little Entente, the Balyan Entente, the Baltic states and other nations of Europe joined the rally, swelling into imposing proportions the protest against the Italian invasion of Ethiopia.

Litvinoff Backs League. Maxim Litvinoff, Russia's spokesman, told the assembly that for his nation "there is only the question of defending the covenant of the league as the instrument of peace."

In quick succession spokesmen for Portugal, Yugoslavia, Rumania, Czechoslovakia, Latvia and the Balkan Entente added their voices to the pledge to remain faithful to the league covenant.

BACK TO SCHOOL MONDAY! Vacation Comes to An End

Back to school will trudge thousands of Santa Ana youngsters Monday morning, ready for another year of the three R's.

Pencils were sharpened today. Dictionaries brought out and dusted. Mamas dragged their boys and girls to town to have their hair trimmed or buy them a new pair of shoes.

It took junior an hour longer to decide to get up this morning, when he realized that vacation was all over. Gone for another nine months were the tramps with his dog and the trips to the mountains. Even the beach would be out except for an occasional week-end.

Elementary schools will open their doors at 8:30 o'clock Monday morning. At Willard and Lathrop Junior high schools, classes are set to start at 8 o'clock.

Record crowds were expected at the Santa Ana Junior college. A registration of 598 students was recorded yesterday in comparison with 417 at the same time last year. More than 200 additional students are expected to register within the next two weeks.

At the Santa Ana High school an increase over last year was noted in the 1997 students who had registered by last night. Classes will begin at 8 o'clock, continuing in regular session, at both the high school and junior college.

To Wed McAdoo

Despite objections made by her father, 26-year-old Doris Cross, public health nurse, late today was to wed Senator W. G. McAdoo, 71, at Washington. The senator has been married twice before.

MARRIAGE OF M'ADOO HIT

Father Of Girl, 26, Not In Favor Of Wedding To Aged Senator

OAKLAND, Iowa, Sept. 14. (AP)—R. G. Cross, 55-year-old Oakland auctioneer, does not approve of his 26-year-old daughter's marriage to 71-year-old United States Senator William Gibbs McAdoo.

"I don't care if he is a senator and a Democratic party leader," Mr. Cross declared today. "I don't like the idea of Doris, who's only 26, marrying a man 71 years old."

Mr. Cross said his daughter telephoned him yesterday from Washington, D. C., saying she was to be married today.

"But she didn't tell me who she was going to marry," he said. "I just assumed he was some man in Washington I didn't know, so I didn't ask her. I didn't learn until late yesterday that the man she was marrying is 71 and twice married."

LONG'S WIFE MAY ENTER SENATE

State Legislature May Be Called To Undo Senator's Work

PEACE TALK HEARD

Foes And Friends Both Seeking Session To Establish Truce

BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 14. (AP)—Another special session of Louisiana's oft-convened legislature appeared inevitable today, this time to undo some of the work it had pushed through at the dictation of Senator Huey Long.

As the Long force sought peace with the White House and anti-Long elements renewed their opposition to the machine left by the assassinated dictator, special session talk was heard in both camps.

At the same time the possibility that Long's name would be carried on in public office arose when it became known that an attempt might be made to have his widow accept appointment to her husband's unexpired term, which has a year and four months to run.

Family Denies Plot. Members of the slain assassin's family again joined in asserting the assassin, Dr. Carl A. Weiss, Jr., had taken no part in a supposed plot on Senator Long's life. They said more than a dozen persons could attest he was treating patients or was with his family on July 21 and 22, the dates on which Senator Long had alleged an assassination plot against him was hatched in New Orleans.

The Long lieutenants, deciding on a major departure from their leader's policies in conferences looking to a truce offer with President Roosevelt, will need legislative action to repeal some of the dictatorial statutes enacted in the seven special sessions held since last year.

Primaries in January. Some of these laws were aimed directly at the Roosevelt administration as Senator Long, deprived of federal patronage, attempted to regulate federal relief expenditures in Louisiana and to inaugurate a "state's rights" test of Roosevelt policies.

Anti-Long leaders want a special session to repeal some of the Long election laws, vesting broad control of the polls in the state, before the quadrennial state primaries in January, at which Senator Long's successor for the full term, congressmen, and all important state offices from governor down, are to be named.

Here's What Jim Farley Told 'Em in Washington About Cotton Barbecue

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN. Authors of Washington Merry-Go-Round, a Daily Feature in The Journal.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 14. One thing which Jim Farley reported when he got back to headquarters was a merry mess among Democrats in California. The row between the liberal Sinclairites and Standpat Democrats, who knifed him last November, not only has not abated, but Jim's visit fanned the flames to fiercer fury.

Jim arrived to find the state Democratic organization in the hands of Sinclair, but all patronage (thanks to Jim, himself) meted out by McAdoo's law partner, William Flynn Neblett, and by Millionaire Ham Cotton.

Each group was awaiting Farley with bated breath. Whichever could pounce upon the bald-pated postmaster general and keep him longest was thumbs-up for the future.

The Sinclairites drew first blood. At a banquet by the Federation of Democratic Women's clubs, Culbert Olson, Sinclair's chief lieutenant, got a tremendous ovation. The dinner had been carefully staged, but Farley didn't know it at the time, and it made quite an impression.

Then, as if to indicate complete success by the Sinclairites, Jim failed to turn up at a barbecue staged by Ham Cotton. Ham is one of the most picturesque characters of California. Born in Chicago, he married into (Please Turn to Page 2, Col. 5)

MORE RELIEF FUNDS SEEN

Roosevelt May Request New Millions From Next Congress

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14. (AP)—A possibility that President Roosevelt will ask the next congress to appropriate more millions for permanent public works was discussed in informed circles today.

Neither confirmation nor a denial that he had been assured the President would follow such a course could be obtained from Secretary Ickes, the public works administrator.

Forecast Fund Request. But other officials, striving to read between the lines of the presidential order setting aside the bulk of remaining work relief funds for temporary work under Harry L. Hopkins' jurisdiction, thought it highly probable that congress would be asked for more money to salvage some permanent PWA projects.

It was pointed out that, since the $4,880,000 works program was announced last winter, many communities had been encouraged to develop PWA projects which now have little apparent chance to qualify for any of the $4,880,000.

Regulations Given. To be financed out of the $1,250,000,000 remaining unallotted from the work relief fund, Mr. Roosevelt said at his press conference yesterday, permanent public works projects will have to meet these rules: Contracts must be let on or before Dec. 15; the projects must be completed in a year; they must be in an area where there are sufficient persons on relief to provide the workers; they must abide by the work relief requirement calling for wages at the average annual rate of $850 per man.

These rules were regarded as giving Secretary Ickes an opportunity to qualify some of the public works which Mr. Hopkins previously had thrown out.

New Feature In Journal Lists Court Calendars

A new feature has started in The Journal. On page three the trial and probate calendars of the three departments of superior court will be printed daily. This calendar will be kept up to date and revised as hearings are scheduled, postponed or dismissed.

This feature will in no way reduce the report of court actions as carried in the news columns, but is being presented as a supplement and to assist attorneys and others who might be interested in actions pending in the courts.

Flood Of Telegrams To President On Flood Program Sought

The Orange chamber of commerce today urged individuals and organizations throughout the county to unite in asking President Roosevelt to approve a federal appropriation for the Orange county water program. The Orange board itself has wired the President, urging an immediate appropriation.

Other chambers of commerce throughout the county are planning to act on the matter at their next meetings, or to call special sessions for this purpose. Farm centers are making the flood control and water conservation program their main topic during this month.

Local Chamber to Act. It is expected that scores of telegrams will be forwarded to Washington in the next few days, telling of the urgent necessity of the water program and urging that federal aid be granted. The project calls for a dam on the Santa Ana river at the upper Prado site, and on approximately 10 other streams. It has been approved by army engineers and is now awaiting approval by the federal allotment board at Washington. It will then go to the President.

The Santa Ana chamber of commerce board of directors will hold a special meeting Monday morning to consider the water program, and at that time the letter from the Orange chamber probably will be formally introduced at the meeting.

U.S. REGRETS NAZI INSULT

Hull Expresses Sorrow To Leitner; Says No Punishment Possible

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14. (AP)—The United States today expressed official regret that Magistrate Louis B. Brodsky of New York City had made "insulting" remarks concerning the Nazi flag, but disclaimed responsibility for his words as not voicing any official attitude of this government.

Secretary Hull extended this government's regret orally to Dr. Rudolf Leitner, charge d'affaires of the German embassy, who was summoned to the state department for that purpose.

"Although in this country," Mr. Hull said, "the right of freedom of speech is well recognized by our fundamental law, it is to be regretted that an official having no responsibility for maintaining relations between the United States and other countries, should thus indulge in expressions offensive to another government with whom we have official relations."

Magistrate Brodsky referred to the swastika banner as a "pirate flag" in freeing five alleged Communists charged with tearing the flag from the liner Bremen on July 28.

LOAN GRANTED WALNUT MEN

OAKLAND, Sept. 14. (AP)—An operating loan of $400,000 to the California Walnut Growers association of Los Angeles was announced here today by President E. A. Stokdyk of the Farm Credit administration's bank for cooperatives.

The announcement said the money would supplement the association's marketing funds following completion of a new warehouse and concentration plant at Vernon. The association numbers 8250 member growers in California.

WILL RETURN TO PRIVATE PRACTICE

Salary Not Enough For Responsibility Of Office, He Says LEAVING JOB OCT. 1

Buy's Evans' Practice At Anaheim; Menton May Succeed Him

District Attorney S. B. Kaufman today announced his resignation from office.

He said he expects to file a written notice with the board of supervisors within a short time asking that the resignation become effective Oct. 1. His decision to retire from the office was prompted, he said, by his opinion that "the salary paid the district attorney is not commensurate with the responsibilities of the office" and a desire to return to private practice.

Buy's Mr. Evans' Practice. Mr. Kaufman will take over the law practice in Anaheim of the late Leonard H. Evans of that city. The consideration in the purchase of Mr. Evans' practice was not announced.

Practicing law since 1916 and considered one of the outstanding attorneys of the county, Mr. Kaufman first entered the district attorney's office May 1, 1927. (Please turn to Page 2, Col. 6)

Mr. Cotton sent the letter to the Santa Ana chamber of commerce, which has invited the President to stop here in a letter sent by W. H. Spurgeon, Jr., president of the booster body.

As the five study speakers pledged allegiance to the league it was understood in diplomatic circles that an important factor of the scheme being discussed by the office of power committee for settlement of the Italo-Ethiopian dispute is "territorial adjustment."

The plan now under consideration was understood to be an enlargement of the offer made by Anthony Eden of Great Britain in Rome to hand over a strip of British Somaliland territory to Ethiopia in return for which Ethiopia would give part of its land to Italy.

The new scheme, it was said, envisages a joint Anglo-French offer of a strip of land in French and half in British Somaliland, which would enable Ethiopia to have access to the sea.

In return Ethiopia would give Italy a patch of territory in the southeast.

Emperor Haile Selassie would undertake to maintain a free port in the newly acquired territory, thus providing access for new Italian settlement.

The plan was believed to be a part of a supreme last minute effort by Great Britain and France to achieve peaceful settlement of the dispute.

Litvinoff told the assembled statesmen:

"The soviet government in principle is opposed to the system of colonies, a policy of spheres of influence and to anything pertaining to imperialistic aims. For the soviet delegation there is only the question of defending the covenant of the league as the instrument of peace."

ITALIAN CABINET SPURNS COMPROMISE

ROME, Sept. 14. (AP)—The Italian cabinet, meeting with Premier Mussolini, refused today to accept any compromise solution of Italy's quarrel with Ethiopia.

The cabinet also "examined in what case Italy's remaining in the League of Nations might be rendered impossible," it was announced.

It Duce, who holds eight cabinet folios himself, told his colleagues that Italy's military preparations in East Africa are proceeding with greater intensity, and that Libya, on the western border of Egypt, has been reinforced.

Italy now "is able to answer any threat from whatever direction it may come," he declared.

Although the cabinet declared the speeches of Premier Laval of France and Sir Samuel Hoare, British foreign secretary, were received with the greatest calm, the French and English embassies were guarded to prevent any demonstrations.

The cabinet declared that "all the forces of foreign anti-Fascism" have gathered about the Ethiopian controversy and therefore it felt duty bound to "reconfirm in the most explicit manner that the Italo-Ethiopian problem does not admit of compromise solution after the huge effort and sacrifices supported by Italy, and after the irrefutable documentation contained in the Italian memorandum presented at Geneva."

In a court order signed this morning, Superior Judge G. K. Scovel approved the sale of the law practice of the late Mr. Evans by his widow to Mr. Kaufman for a consideration of $6500.

Following the announcement of Mr. Kaufman's resignation, indications pointed to the selection of Assistant District Attorney W. F. Menton as his successor. Unofficially it has been indicated by at least two members of the board that they would approve his appointment.

the old Spanish Dominguez family and prospered in other ways.

Ham is one of the most picturesque on his San Clemente estate, wears two pairs of glasses simultaneously, uses the language of a stevedore, and is noted for excessive loyalty to his friends, both rich and poor.

So when the renowned Big Jim Farley failed to appear at Ham Cotton's barbecue it was a blow not only to Ham personally but to conservative Democracy.

At this point another California character stepped into the breach—William H. Evans, of Los Angeles, who claims to have sold the CCC idea to Roosevelt with the help of Judge Ben Lindsey and Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr.

As Southern California supervisor of federal housing, Evans has pushed along about the only New Deal project which has made a splash in the state. His father, with Lindbergh's father, formed the nucleus of the Farmer-Labor party in Minnesota and gave his son liberal leanings.

It was Bill Evans who stepped in and persuaded Farley that he must call on Ham Cotton. Thus standpat Democracy finally was appeased.

Farley seems to have brought back a good impression of Evans. It is not at all unlikely that Evans may be the fusion leader, picked to bring the two bitterly opposed wings of Democracy together.

Before coming to Orange county, Mr. Kaufman practiced law in Los Angeles from 1916 to 1919, at which time he moved to Santa Ana to open a law office. He was graduated from the University of Southern California law school.

Sale Is Approved

In a court order signed this morning, Superior Judge G. K. Scovel approved the sale of the law practice of the late Mr. Evans by his widow to Mr. Kaufman for a consideration of $6500.

Following the announcement of Mr. Kaufman's resignation, indications pointed to the selection of Assistant District Attorney W. F. Menton as his successor. Unofficially it has been indicated by at least two members of the board that they would approve his appointment.

So when the renowned Big Jim Farley failed to appear at Ham Cotton's barbecue it was a blow not only to Ham personally but to conservative Democracy.

At this point another California character stepped into the breach—William H. Evans, of Los Angeles, who claims to have sold the CCC idea to Roosevelt with the help of Judge Ben Lindsey and Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr.

As Southern California supervisor of federal housing, Evans has pushed along about the only New Deal project which has made a splash in the state. His father, with Lindbergh's father, formed the nucleus of the Farmer-Labor party in Minnesota and gave his son liberal leanings.

It was Bill Evans who stepped in and persuaded Farley that he must call on Ham Cotton. Thus standpat Democracy finally was appeased.

Farley seems to have brought back a good impression of Evans. It is not at all unlikely that Evans may be the fusion leader, picked to bring the two bitterly opposed wings of Democracy together.

SOCIAL SECTION TO MEET TUESDAY

Bridge and anagrams will be on the program for the social section of the Woman's club of Santa Ana next Tuesday afternoon when Mrs. R. G. Carman, 1904 Bush street, is hostess to the group.

MAY PROMOTE P. O. CREW

Promotions probably will be in line for several employees of the Santa Ana postoffice as a result of the adoption of a 40-hour week, which will go into effect Oct. 1. Although the new schedule calls for a five-day week, there will be no curtailment in service. The present week contains 44 hours.

It is probable that two senior substitute carriers, Leonard E. Schols and S. R. Hurrell, will become regular carriers, and that George P. Reynolds will move up to the position of senior substitute carrier, according to Postmaster T. E. Stephenson.

Under the new program Harry Polk probably will move up to the position of regular clerk and Cecil Hamilton will become either a regular clerk or senior substitute. E. C. Palm, substitute who has been on the civil service list for four years but has been driving a laundry truck, probably will become a substitute.

U. B. MISSIONARY SOCIETY MEETS AT T. F. NAIL'S

Centering around the topic, "Time, Talents and Money," the meeting of the Women's Missionary society of the United Brethren church was held Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. T. F. Nail, 721 South Parton street.

Mrs. Mabel Sands, president, officiated, and Mrs. W. O. Sidman gave the invocation.

M. W. A. day was set for the last Sunday in October, when a special program will be given by the missionary society and guilds of the church. "Women Under the Southern Cross" will be given as a book review at an all-day meeting of the church Sept. 26, with Mrs. Mabel Sands as hostess. A pot-luck dinner will be served at noon.

Mrs. Minnie Deakin will be hostess Oct. 10 at her home for the next regular meeting.

'THE DARK ANGEL' OPENS SUNDAY

MISS OBERON STARS WITH MARCH

Four-Day Engagement of New Romance Billed For Broadway

"The Dark Angel," Samuel Goldwyn's gripping drama of a girl and two men, starring Frederic March, Herbert Marshall and Merle Oberon, comes to the Broadway theater tomorrow for a four-day engagement.

This love story, set in a quiet corner of rural England, reflects the hearts of a woman and two men—one of whom she loves, while the other loves her.

An emotional climax is reached when the man she loves comes to a realization of his love for her. Their happiness is short-lived, however, as the forces of life tear them apart. Years after, when the girl has resigned herself to a betrothal to the other man, a kinder fate intervenes and the lovers are reunited.

Sidney Franklin, who directed "The Barretts of Wimpole Street," "Smilin' Thur" and other outstanding film productions, directed "The Dark Angel."

Others prominent in the supporting cast are Janet Beecher, John Halliday, Henrietta Crossman, Frieda Inescort, Claude Allister, George Breakston, David Torrence and Cora Sue Collins.

"Going Places," featuring Lowell Thomas, "Barnyard Babies," a colored cartoon and a news reel complete the bill.

'IN THE MONEY' ENDS TONIGHT

Joan Blondell's picture "We're in the Money," which has been playing at the Fox Broadway theater since Thursday, ends its Santa Ana engagement tonight. With her is seen Glenda Farrell and Hugh Herbert, in another of their rollicking comedies, which is filled with ridiculous situations.

Blondell and Farrell play the parts of process servers for a divorce-getting attorney in the new film.

On the same bill is "Atlantic Adventure," starring Nancy Carroll. It is a story of murder on the high seas, as a big ocean liner winds its way across the ocean. There is romance, thrills and suspense aplenty in the picture.

JOE E. BROWN'S COMEDY BILLED HERE

Joe E. Brown's "Bright Lights," said by critics to be the most "masterful" comedy he has ever undertaken, will come to the Broadway theater Sunday, Sept. 22. It was announced today by Lester J. Fountain, manager.

Patricia Ellis, out for adventure, and Ann Dvorak, who portrays Brown's wife in the picture, add greatly to the entertainment. The plot concerns a young actor in burlesque who suddenly finds himself behind the lights of a big New York theater. How he got there and why make up the comedy angles of the picture.

JACK BENNY MUSICAL COMING SEPT. 21

Jack Benny's long looked for "Broadway Melody of 1936," will come to the Fox West Coast theater for a week's engagement starting Sept. 21.

Full of songs and dance numbers, Benny's fascinating manner of entertainment and a comedy story that makes for action and surprises, the picture should prove one of the better films of its kind seen in Santa Ana this year. Eleanor Powell, called the world's greatest tap dancer, and Robert Taylor have prominent parts in the supporting cast.

SISTER SLAYER IS SENT TO PATTON

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 14. (AP)—Mrs. Florence Boykin Dowling, confessed slayer of her sister, Mrs. Gladys Glana Fair, in Long Beach, late yesterday was committed to the Patton asylum by Superior Judge George Bullock.

Mrs. Dowling was found in San Francisco after the slaying and returned here. Under questioning she admitted the slaying. At a sanity hearing she caused an uproar in Judge Bullock's courtroom by throwing a paper carton at the woman judge.

HUGH NEEDS MONEY SO HE'LL LEAVE WPA

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Sept. 14. (AP)—Gen. Hugh S. Johnson reached an understanding with President Roosevelt Friday for his retirement as Works Relief administrator in New York City early in October in accordance with his original agreement.

"I got to make some money," said the outspoken Johnson. "I think I can button up the job by Oct. 15."

A little cheese added to fried potatoes gives a different flavor. Adds nutriment too.

Feature In 'Dark Angel'

Frederic March and Merle Oberon are featured in the big new picture, "The Dark Angel," which comes to the Broadway theater tomorrow for a four-day showing. It is the story of a girl and two men, one whom she loves, one that loves her. Her decision is made when one of them is reported killed in France in the war. But even that is not the end of the picture.

'Gay Deception' Here Today

Francis Lederer and Frances Dee are the gay deceivers in the new picture, "The Gay Deception," which opened at the Fox West Coast theater today. In the film, both pretend to be what they are not, then suddenly they have an awakening and find out that true happiness lies along lines of just being natural.

PRINCE PLAYS A BELL BOY IN 'GAY DECEPTION'

Sure fire romance, the kind that starts at the beginning of the picture and races through to the end without stopping, is seen in "The Gay Deception," starring Francis Lederer and Frances Dee, which opens at the West Coast theater today.

The adventures and escapades of two youngsters who look for thrills and find glorious romance, constitute the story, in spite of the fact that they both deceive the other from their very first meeting.

WERE THE JANITORS BUSY? Schools Clean for Fall Term

By VIRGINIA SMITH

"School's out," sounded the cry in Santa Ana June 14. But back with soap and water two weeks later went a staff of 29 janitors to do their summer housecleaning.

More than 6,200 children had left fingerprints on the walls of the school buildings. Ink stains had to be removed from desks, and the twisted ends of chandeliers that had evaded the year's pursuit of dustmops, were due to have their "innards" washed.

Throughout the buildings went the legion of cleaners. At Willard Junior High school the three janitors, who won a permanent cup last year for taking first place in the city schools' maintenance contest for three years, set the pace for their custodian comrades.

Cloths, dipped in vinegar and coal oil, went over 831 students' desks. The desks were finished off with a rubdown which left their surfaces with a smooth polish. From there, the janitors went to clean 36 teachers' desks, 578 extra chairs, 525 windows, and 281 light chandeliers. Thirty-one radiators went under the brush to come out with a shining enamel finish.

From Top to Bottom Floors were scrubbed with soap and water. Up the walls custodians cleaned, taking off the pictures to get the dust from behind. On the stage of the auditorium curtains and drapes were brushed, and the 672 seats washed.

In the gym rooms, 1,140 lockers came out of their holders to be washed. Paint brushes swished over walls and doors of the locker rooms for a fresh coat of gray paint.

COWBOY MOVIE DUE THURSDAY

"Tumbling Tumbleweeds," starring the singing Gene Autry, whose cowboy compositions are a type of music all to themselves, and "The 39 Steps," starring Robert Donat, famed for his work in "The Count of Monte Cristo," will be the feature pictures at the Fox West Coast theater starting next Thursday.

Autry's cowboy songs are heard every day on the radio. He wrote "The Dying Cowboy," "Bury Me Not on the Lone Prairie," "The Crime I Didn't Do," "There's An Empty Cot in the Bunkhouse Tonight," "Cowboy Heaven," and many other songs that are dear to the hearts of Westerners.

The picture is a wild, thrilling story of western life. Norma Taylor, formerly of Zeigfeld Follies is the girl in the cast.

In "The 39 Steps," Donat is forced to marry the girl he hates. She hates him too. Together, bound wrist to wrist they seek and find romance together.

DOUBLE BILL FOR BROADWAY

Two pictures of entirely different types will come to the Broadway theater starting next Thursday when "Redheads on Parade," starring John Boles, Dixie Lee and Jack Haley, and "Streamline Express," a mystery picture, will be shown.

"Streamline Express" was previewed here several weeks ago. It is the story of entangled lives on a westbound coast-to-coast streamline train, out to break the transcontinental record. Crimes are committed, pasts are revealed, even a child is born as the train rushes westward. Victor Jory has the leading male part with Evelyn Venable in the female lead.

Girls feature the picture "Redheads on Parade." There is much singing and dancing throughout the picture. Haley furnishes the comedy.

Ethiopians Are Natural Soldiers

NATION CONFIDENT OF VICTORY IN EVENT OF WAR WITH ITALY

By CHARLES NORMAN
A land with an area greater than England, France and Italy combined listens for the beat of the war drums it feels will sound soon from over its borders.
It listens—and feels confident of the issue.

Ethiopia's terrain has provided the empire of Haile Selassie with a natural stronghold. It contains the greatest mountain area on the African continent, steep inaccessible ranges that hem the Abyssinian tableland, giving that fertile portion of the country the appearance of a turreted castle surrounded by moats that are mountains.

A race that has fought against foreign aggression and as conquerors for centuries has produced, like the country's abundant crops, a superabundance of redoubtable warriors.

Every Man A Soldier
From the earliest times to the present day, no foreigner visiting the ancient empire has failed to remark on the warlike attributes of the population.

It has been said that every Ethiopian is a potential soldier, with a rifle an indispensable piece of civilian equipment.

The men are great horsemen, and Ethiopia's cavalry, whether armed with the spears of the nineteenth century, or the rifles of the present, present an awesome spectacle as they wheel through maneuvers. They ride with only the big toe in the stirrup.

They are of consistently tall stature and splendid physiques. In northeastern Abyssinia they are almost white-skinned, but towards the south this color gives place to black, with the revealing skin tone of the country described as copper-colored.

Many of them are at present equipped with rifles taken from the Italians, Egyptians and Sudanese whom they have defeated. "Kind to children—cruel to beasts" has been applied to the men of Ethiopia.

Few Ethiopians Work
Half of the able-bodied men have no productive occupation. Attired in picturesque channas, standard garb of the country, they are to be seen always with a rifle slung over the shoulder and colorful cartridge belts around the waist. Now they are being mustered into a fighting force as Italy's modern legions mass on their borders.

An ample food supply leaves little ambition for commerce and trade, which is chiefly carried on by foreigners. In times of pestilence the Ethiopian attaches himself to the retinue of higher personages whose mark of rank can be gauged by the richness of their channas and the number of their horses and followers.

The Ethiopian, with his splendid physique, is said to be unexcelled as a courier. Observers in the dark empire of Haile Selassie report that some of them have been known to run 24 hours at a stretch bearing important news to almost inaccessible points.

The Ethiopians are a race of highlanders who do not like to get into the lowlands.

CENTRAL CHEST UNIT TO MEET

Launching one of the most important phases of the Santa Ana Community Chest campaign, the central committee headed by W. B. Williams, will meet at the Chest headquarters next Monday night. This is the group which will contact the larger givers.

Plans for the meeting were announced Friday noon at a meeting of Chest leaders in the campaign offices on North Sycamore street.

Mrs. Edward Hall announced another major feature, when she told of plans for each agency participating in the Chest to hold an open house on the afternoon and evening of Oct. 4. Each agency will entertain visitors and explain the service rendered. Boy Scouts will make an encampment in Birch park.

A group of 4,000 donors has been set for Santa Ana this year, it was reported by Glenn O. Everman, director. He said a survey has showed there are 6211 employed persons outside the residential division, 2361 persons in the business division, and 2500 in the employees' section.

Edward Hall, chairman of the public relations division, reported on progress so far. One of his chairmen, Ernest Layton, who is in charge of the speakers' bureau, announced a meeting of his group in campaign headquarters at 7 p. m. Monday.

McKINLEY P-T. A. OFFICERS MEET

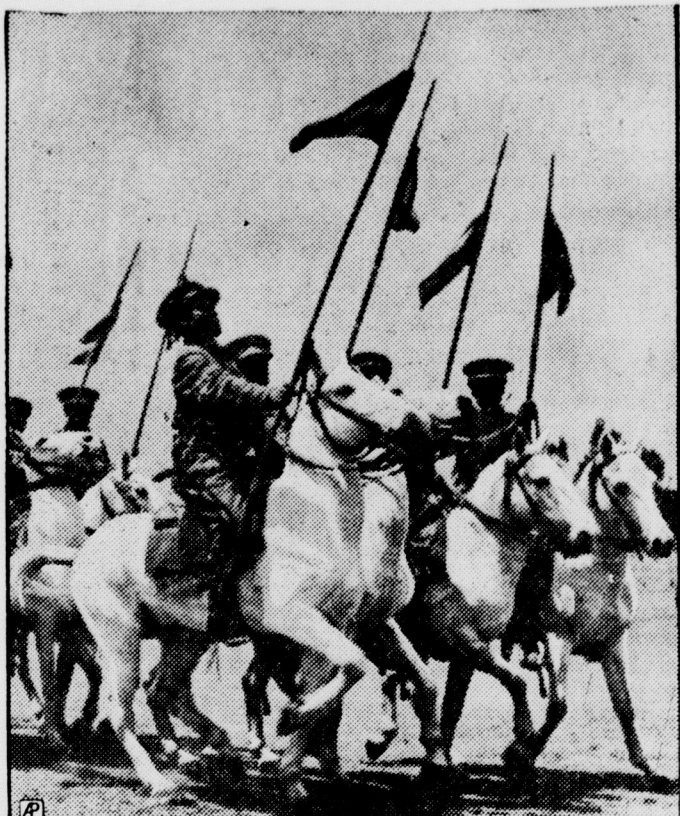

Executive board members of the McKinley Parent-Teacher association assembled yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Floyd Mitchell, 1036 West Sixth street.

Among plans made for the year was the decision that the September-October meeting would be combined and set for a date in October.

Refreshments were served. Mrs. A. Garthe, 908 West Pine street, will have the next officers' meeting.

HAROLD LLOYD WAS USHER

LYWOOD, (AP)—Harold Lloyd in his early youth was an usher in the theater at Elitch's gardens in Denver where he met many who became his movie associates of later years.

The Ethiopians are great horsemen and their cavalry is an important part of the army. A cavalry troop, pennons flying from long spears, is seen departing for "the front."

PRIZES TAKEN BY SEVERAL FROM AREA

Fullerton, Costa Mesa Entries Score; Laguna Paintings Entered

Orange county artists and art craftsmen are well represented this year in the fine arts display at the Tri-County fair in Pomona. Not only are county artists represented through their work, but several county entries in the artwork division have been awarded prizes.

The exhibition is under direction this year of Millard Sheets, head of the art department at Scripps college, Claremont. Mr. Sheets is well known in Orange county, being a cousin of Floyd Andros, Garden Grove, and a frequent visitor at the Andros home. Mr. Sheets also has one of his water colors, "Farm Scene," on exhibition in the gallery but not in competition.

George Brandriff, president of the Laguna Beach Art association, has a picture, "New Mexico Scene," on exhibition, and two pieces of sculpture are entered by A. A. Mae Sharpless of Tustin and Hollywood. Miss Sharpless' entries are a single figure, "Dancer," and a symbolic group titled, "Unity."

County People Win

Honors in the artwork division went to several Fullerton and Costa Mesa entries, particularly in the hand-made jewelry section. Mrs. Edyth McDonald, artwork teacher in Fullerton Junior college, was awarded first prize for a pair of hand-made ear rings. Third prize in the same class went to Miss Iva Mae Quinn, a pupil of Mrs. McDonald. Miss Alice Whitaker, also of Fullerton, has entered in the jewelry display a beautiful antique cameo brooch.

Miss Whitaker also has a beautiful hand-made pewter bowl entered in the exhibition.

Fullerton artists also won first and second prizes in the pottery class, first prize going to Miss Nadine McKinley and second to Miss Lois Gross. Mrs. Lucy B. Smalley, Costa Mesa, has a beautiful display of pottery produced in her studio at Laguna Beach.

Other Awards Made

In the art needlework section Miss Wilma Strawn, Fullerton, has two luncheon sets entered.

The 45,000 jobs will be made available, mostly to persons on relief in the county, under the proposed rearrangement of the Works Progress Relief program. The jobs will cost the federal, state, county and city governments $49,455,438 and will be spread over a year.

GROUPS BEGIN DANCE CLASSES

"One, two, three, slide!" sounded around the floor at Veterans' hall last night as Miss Cornelle Swain of the Putnam studios began her dancing instructions as a courtesy to the DeMolay-Job's Daughters Friday night dance crowds.

From 7:30 to 8 o'clock each week, Miss Swain is to teach modern steps and ballroom etiquette to the group that comes to the weekly dances. Glen Evans' recordings provide music for the events.

Chaperones at last night's dance were Mesdames Walter Hickey, W. C. McFarren, J. H. Bray, H. Thebo, Plummer Bruns and Margaret Shepard.

Sea Serpent Sticks Head Up 20 Feet, Say Boston Sailors

BOSTON, Sept. 14. (CP)—Not only Adelbert Langthorne, but 22 other fishermen insist they saw a 70-foot eel-like sea monster raise its crocodile-like head 20 feet out of the ocean on western bank.

The men, crew of the Gloucester fishing schooner Imperator, said the monster calmly surveyed their vessel until they reached for their swordfish harpoons. Then, apparently without fins, it swam off along the surface like a water snake.

Cantando Club Singers Clear Throats; Begin Season Rehearsals Monday Night

All set for a new season of singing, the Cantando club, outstanding of the county, Miss Ruth Armstrong, accompanist, and Leon Eckles, director, are sitting in the foreground.

Group, Formed in 1927, Won Recognition Early; For Coming Year Three Concerts Are Planned, With Possibility of Radio Broadcasting Work

By ELLEN SNEBLEY

Sixty-five members of that energetic and representative musical organization, the Cantando club, will wind their way Monday evening through the 1935-36 season at the Church of the Messiah parish hall to work on concert programs.

Most of those who have lived in Orange county any length of time have become familiar with the fine work which this male chorus has been doing for the past decade, in helping to elevate musical standards in Southern California, whose history in given below.

It was on Jan. 3, 1927, that Lyle Anderson, Leon Eckles, F. L. Gibbs, O. W. Householder, J. E. Lloyd, A. H. T. Taylor and Charles Wollaston met together for luncheon to discuss formation of a male chorus in Santa Ana. The idea was so enthusiastically received that Jan. 24, 1927, was set as the first rehearsal date. Invitations were sent out to a number of male singers, both in Santa Ana and other cities of the county, to join the club. Thirty men attended the first rehearsal.

First Concert in 1927

The first concert was held on May 24, 1927, at the Santa Ana High school auditorium, with Leon Eckles directing and Ruth Armstrong as accompanist. Forty-seven men sang in the first concert and it is interesting to note that the following 16 men are still actively engaged with the club: L. B. Babbit, W. H. Gallienne, O. W. Householder, J. E. Lloyd, F. L. Gibbs, W. K. Hilliard, J. S. McCarty, F. C. Rowland, K. M. Taylor, C. H. Wollaston, P. H. Prior, E. H. Rowland, H. E. Jennings, J. A. Miller, Hugh Rannels and W. C. Vieira. Leon Eckles is also still director and Ruth Armstrong, accompanist.

The official name, Cantando club, was first suggested by A. J. Garroay and was adopted on March 28, 1927. Cantando is of Latin derivation, being the participle of the verb canto (to sing), and the translation of the club name is therefore singing club.

Very early in its history the organization began winning recognition, for on April 7, 1927, at Fullerton, the club won first place

Orange Park Cost $13,683 Has Picnic Spots and Many Facilities For Recreation

(This is the fourth of a series of articles having to do with the development of Orange's system of parks, potential beauty spots and recreational institutions of Southern California. The series is intended to be informative to those cities which do not enjoy park facilities. Santa Ana is listed in the latter classification.)

By ROCH BRADSHAW

The Orange municipal park, containing a plunge, clubhouse, picnic facilities, rest rooms, tennis and croquet courts, as well as a soft ball diamond, has cost the city so far $13,683.69.

The site itself, containing 17 acres, was secured on a trade for other property owned by the city. The $13,683.69 represents the city's outlay for construction work in the park, including its contribution to State Emergency Relief administration projects in the park.

For this amount of money the community has secured a park for which the total outlay has been more than $35,000. Working in cooperation with the State Emergency Relief administration, the city has secured a park which would have cost it a far greater sum in former years. The SERA contribution was $21,667.84. This money was expended for labor and for part of the material.

Maintenance and supervision of the park and the city plaza have cost $3971.03, figures in the office of City Clerk Herbert Elljah show. This expenditure covers a two-year period from July 1, 1933, to July 1, 1935. The Orange plaza, located at the intersection of Chapman avenue and Glassell street, has long been a mark of distinction for the city. It is a circular park containing a fountain.

The Orange park has been developed under the present and preceding city councils. The park commission is composed of Councilmen A. H. Heim and Cal D. Lester. The park superintendent is Ben Dierker. He and the council have plans for developing the recreational area further as soon as the Works Progress administration gets under way and labor is available.

the coming season, for an offer has been received to do some radio broadcasting over the Columbia coast network, sponsored by one of the larger oil companies, in addition to the three regular concerts to be given at the Orange High school auditorium, the third Tuesday evenings of November, February and May.

The club is looking forward to

to lend variety to its programs the club has made it a rule to feature at each concert a guest artist, usually from outside the county. Some of those who have appeared on past programs are: Flora Myers Engle, soprano; Eleanor Fraser Rennie, contralto; Ralph Laughlin, tenor; Harriet Henderson, soprano; The Sierra quintet; Fred McPherson, baritone; Lajos Shuk, violin-cellist; Myrtle Aber, soprano; Earl Fraser and Dudley Page Harper, pianists; Charles King, tenor; Georgia Stark, soprano; Douglas Beattie, bass-baritone; Everhard Stovell, pianist; Tudor Williams, baritone; Calmon

Couple That Married on Less Than $75 a Month 'Doing Fine'

Should a man marry on $75 a month? No, say the economists. Yes, say some of those who have. How? asks a third group. The Journal would like to know, too. So it assigned Virginia Smith, Journal staff writer, to gather and set down varying opinions of Santa Anans. They will be presented in a series of articles of which this is the third.

By VIRGINIA SMITH

PROLOGUE: So the hero married the heroine. They were cast in a High school play. When the show was over they decided they hadn't been acting after all, but were really in love. Seventeen months later he had what promised to be a steady job, and they headed for the altar.

The Play: After the wedding, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Morgan, the play-acting couple who pledged their troth in 1932, settled down to live on his less than $75 a month. A year later came a small son and Grandma Peck, the girl's mother, to stay with them.

"Why, of course, we've never regretted it," said Mr. Morgan, an employee at the Orange county market.

"We had to budget pretty carefully and we couldn't do a lot of things, but we managed quite all right," he said.

The Morgans paid $3 a week for a furnished apartment that included a kitchen, bedroom, parlor and bath, and with gas and lights included in the rent. They planned to spend about $4 a week for food. Since Mr. Morgan was employed in the grocery he knew food values and could assist with marketing at times when they could take advantage of specials and bargain sales.

"Retire" for 75c

To keep their car in gas and oil they spent about $2 a week. Occasionally a tire blew out. That meant a trip to the second hand shop for a 75 cent used one that would go another 2000 miles, giving Mr. Morgan transportation to his work.

They were paid for before we got married so they couldn't take those back," Mr. Morgan chuckled.

Entertainment was fairly simple. They bought a radio after they were married, bringing music and dramatic programs into their home. A number of their friends liked to play cards so they spent a good many nights that way. Mr. Morgan liked to read, and once every three months they went to the movies.

Active in the Christian Endeavor society at the Orange Avenue Christian church, they had a common interest in church work of all kinds.

"I had a suit and Mrs. Morgan had enough clothes to start on," Mr. Morgan said. "We were given all of our linens and bedding at showers before the marriage, and that helped considerably," he said. "We managed to keep looking decent."

Baby "Paid For"

Odd pennies went into the teapot to pay for the blessed event that was on the way.

"The baby's all paid for, now," Mr. Morgan said, "and we almost saved enough before its arrival to have it paid for in advance."

They don't have any trouble getting someone to stay with the baby now when they want to go out, he said, and Grandma Peck is considerable help with the child and housework. Now they have a house which they have furnished gradually.

"There were days when ice cream and candy weren't common occurrences but we've never felt any qualms about getting married. We know it can be done on very little," he said.

Epilogue: They lived happily ever after.

Adventure, Achievement, Acting Are Topics to be Touched in Ebell Program

New Year To Start Soon For Club

Mrs. Jack Valley Again to Be Monthly Speaker; Opera Star to Sing

Do you like drama? Or music? Or fascinatingly presented facts? These, and more too, will be presented for the pleasure of Santa Ana Valley Ebell society in the new year to open Monday, Sept. 23, in the Ebell clubhouse.

Mrs. L. A. Chenoweth, clever program chairman of Ebell, assisted by Mrs. T. E. Stephenson, Mrs. Clarence Gustlin and Mrs. M. B. Wellington, this week has completed most of the preliminary work on the season's programs, one highlight of which is the return of Mrs. Jack Valley, popular Los Angeles lecturer, for a course of monthly programs.

To Hear Singer
William Wolf, baritone, of the Metropolitan opera, who is now making motion pictures in Hollywood, will sing at the opening meeting.

Oct. 23, husbands of the clubwomen will be guests at a program in which Captain Alan Hancock will discuss his south sea adventures and show pictures.

Nov. 25, Kismet Serri, talented young Turkish girl who has been living at the Turkish embassy in Washington, D. C., and writing, will be guest artist.

Play Scheduled
"A Man With a Load of Mischiefs" play by the Santa Oatman Players of Pasadena, will be presented at the Dec. 9 meeting. Amelia Earhart will address the clubwomen at their February meeting, an evening affair.

Noted for his startling statements in "Red Bread," "Humanity Uprooted," and kindred books, Maurice Haurin, who has spent the past summer traveling and studying in Russia, will be speaker at the March meeting.

Other programs are still to be arranged.

TEAPOT TATTLE

Rex begonia—or white hyacinths...

Mrs. C. E. Moore told me a story, as we stood looking at the birds and flowers and the amber-eyed orange cat in her shop, that's well worth passing on to you.

It was about a tall, nice looking young man, who stood staring at a silver-edged black-leaved begonia. He asked her the price of the plant, then shook his head.

"Too much for an S.E.R.A. worker."

He lingered for a minute, looking wistfully at the begonia, then started off. Halfway to the corner he turned, came back to the shop and with a "Well, I guess we only live once," purchased the plant and departed in triumph.

It seems to me, he got more from whatever sacrifice he made to have the plant, than he would have from being strictly practical. What do you think?

Topaz, feline visitor of Mrs. Moore, really lives in the feed store on the corner. He was a "stray" in his kitten days, but that's almost forgotten and he's king of the store that's his home. He has his own private entrance, and his circle of friends up and down the block. He likes to sleep in the sun on the warm sidewalk.

A pretty, dark, small U. S. C. co-ed stops at The Journal office to see Virginia Smith, and remains to tell her troubles...

She had to work hard, going to S. C., and hasn't time to be frivolous. She thinks 21 is "old enough to be serious" and she looks forward to the quiet of a little town.

We told her "go back to school" and she declared she was tired of it. She could lose youth and all that makes it fun and thrilling and—breathless, at 21.

I look forward to seeing her red-roofed Spanish house, and to learning whether she returns to school... or what.

Katie and Ed Adams are preparing to depart for Corvallis, where he will resume his teaching in the Corvallis High school athletics department. We sincerely hope to see this clever and well-liked young couple leave Santa Ana; but they'll be a grand addition to Corvallis' younger married set.

Today's wrinkle-raiser: What local blond is home from a summer at Laguna, glowing with memories of "that dance with Frederic March?"

Amelia Earhart, who zoomed into Santa Ana the other afternoon and looked things over, will be back sometime this winter to talk to the Ebell clubwomen.

We think she's particularly fascinating.

Jack McCarthy just drifted in to say goodbye before leaving for the U. of O. to go collegiate.

Man Doesn't Want His Girl to Have Dates With Other Boys But Gives Little Recompense

By MARY STODDARD

Men can be very selfish sometimes. They want to corner a girl's affection—keep her away from all other males—and make no promises of marriage. "Dora" seems to have such a friend. She writes:

"Dear Miss Stoddard: I have been going around with a young man for three months, and have seen him nearly every night of the week, and spend all day Sunday and Saturday with him. We have talked about getting married, and he promised to give me a ring for my birthday.

"When my birthday came, he asked me to wait a little while longer. He says he wants me to meet his mother—but he never takes me to his home and I have never seen his mother. I do think quite a lot of him.

"He objects to my going out with anyone else, and does not like me to receive candy or anything from other boys. Yet he does not give them to me himself. Do you think I am foolish to keep going with him steady? I know that he loves me, and I love him. DORA."

Giving the young man the benefit of the doubt—it may be that he cannot afford to be married yet, and the cost of a ring seems more than he can manage. However, an engagement ring is not necessary to an engagement.

If the young man is sincere in wanting to marry you, he should certainly introduce you to his mother. If he is not sincere, there is no reason why you should devote all your time to him.

Find out whether or not his "dog-in-the-manger" attitude toward you is based on anything more than selfishness before you give up all other friends.

THE THINKERS

Wherein women of the community express their views on topics of particular interest to women.

Why should parents and teachers know each other?

Mrs. Victor Hupp: The most obvious reason is, that both may better understand the child, teachers having but a short acquaintance with their pupils. On the other hand parents may often learn much from the teacher concerning their own children. It would seem to be mutually helpful to both parents and teachers.

Mrs. Grace Wolff: I think it's a very good idea. When a teacher gets in contact with the parents of a pupil, she can discuss common problems, and with the parents' cooperation can solve problems that otherwise could be very troublesome. Teachers and parents can work together too to care for the social needs of the child.

Mrs. George P. Ames: I think the teacher and mother must work together to help the child. Mothers know the various oddities of their children's natures and can help the teacher understand them, if they are in contact with the teacher.

Fashions to Be Shown By Y.L.I.

In the wake of the fall fashion review by merchants of the city, Capistrano Y. L. I. will sponsor a fashion show for men and women next Friday evening, Sept. 20, at 7:45 in the Ebell clubhouse.

What Dame Fashion has decreed will be modeled along the promenade. Swanberger's will show what 1935 fall styles have to offer in cut and color for men. Katherine's Ready to Wear will send its mannequins to model the pattern and design of the new Renaissance styles.

STOCKS TAKE MINOR DROP ON MARKET

Some Profit Taking in Evidence; Few Make Small Increase

By VICTOR EUBANK
NEW YORK, Sept. 14. (AP)—The stock market sidestepped gingerly today with only the metals and a handful of specialties showing firm propensities.

Profit taking was in evidence at times, although most losses were held to minor proportions. The close was irregular. Transfers approximated 600,000 shares.

Shares of U. S. Smelting got up 3 points on top of its yesterday's spurt of more than 6, but yielded part of this gain in the final hour. American Smelting, Cerro de Pasco, Howe Sound, Kennecott and Anaconda gave a good account of themselves. American Telephone was resistant, as were Purdy Bakeries, Warner Bros., Loew's, N. Y. Central and Auburn, Western Union and Case sagged about a point each and U. S. Steel, General Motors, Chrysler, American Can, Westinghouse, Consolidated Gas, Santa Fe, Union Pacific were about unchanged to moderately in advance.

Bullish forces were somewhat less vociferous than usual, but they did not appear especially downhearted so far as selected stocks are concerned.

Commission houses reported in and out dealings increased the past several sessions while investment demands had slackened appreciably. Many operators were said to be standing aside awaiting a reaction sufficiently sharp to permit them to get back in with prospects of substantial profits later.

To Senator William G. McAdoo:

Not re-ally!

COL. V. ORANGE.

To Sisters Aimee and Rheba:

Well, girls it seems you have had a fight—or is it just another press agent story? Anyhow your kind of gospel-ing seems to pay enough for either of you to go globe
trotting when you can't stand the other's presence.

COL. V. ORANGE.

To William T. Wallop, Anaheim Union:

If the supervisors formally agree to the four-point concession your company asks in connection with the flood control program, we know you'll keep your word and get behind the bond issue for Prado dam. It would be embarrassing to you to do otherwise—now wouldn't it?

COL. V. ORANGE.

To Governor Merriam:

In yesterday's Journal Paul Vissman, telling of the Tri-County fair at Pomona, said you would be led out on the track today where they judge prize cows and run horse races. Paul assures me he didn't mean that just the way it sounds. He merely meant you would be on exhibition today. I'm giving him the benefit of the doubt, but I'm suspicious.

COL. V. ORANGE.

To Howard Irwin, Fullerton:

Howard, you're one of the G. O. P. chieftains around these parts. What's California going to do about promoting Republican doctrine next year? Folks are getting anxious. They aren't as happy as they used to be with Mr. Roosevelt, but what are you and that old fighting group of yours going to do about it? California has a lot to say, you know.

COL. V. ORANGE.

To Director Everman, Community Chest:

Here's luck to the kick-off and the campaign to follow.
Some way I feel we are going over the top without much difficulty this year. I like the way you are going about the job and I am certain your volunteer workers will be given the reception to which they are entitled. This is a community obligation and those who give time and money
too, deserve the full support and co-operation of those upon whom they call.

COL. V. ORANGE.

To Legislative and Investigating Committees:

Say fellows, this thing of running the legislative business the year around is just too silly for any use.
Don't blame the people if they get so darned sick and tired of it that they refuse to take you seriously or approve a single thing you do. Back and forth, here and there, with transportation, hotel and all the incidental expense paid for by the taxpayers—this indeed, is something to complain about. And what is accomplished?
Name it and I'll bet the editor will print it gladly.

COL. V. ORANGE.

To Harry Wilde of the California Highway Patrol:

You were very courteous yesterday when you informed newspapermen they were not to take pictures of Howard Hughes' mystery speed plane after its forced landing in a beet field near here. I understand that courtesy is part of the code of ethics of your organization, but I was not aware that the highway patrol has taken on the job of suppressing news. Mr. Hughes may have asked you to shoo photographers away, as a favor to him, but I would be surprised to find anything in the instructions
governing your work which would place on your shoulders
the responsibility of interfering with news photographers or reporters.

COL. V. ORANGE.

To Santa Ana Wedding Chapel:

Why not invite Grandpa McAdoo and his bride-to-be to hold the grand opening at your place? No foolin', it would be a great publicity stunt. We could all have a swell time. Have Ham Cotton come and hold a barbecue with free beer and horse races on the front lawn. Franklin
D. and Eleanor Roosevelt will be in California shortly.
I bet they wouldn't pass up one of Ham's shows, even if Jim Farley did. Reserve the first ten rows for postmaster candidates. Appoint Jules Markel general manager; name Harold Dale and N. E. West on the publicity committee, let Paul Witmer pass the bottles—milk bottles for campaign expenses, I mean—and success is yours.

COL. V. ORANGE.

To the Farm Centers:

Glad to see you getting under way again. Townspeople do not know what they are missing by the lack of an organization such as yours. True, they have service clubs and similar organizations, but they do it all in a hurry and don't get down to fundamentals as you do. I was impressed with the thoroughness with which you studied the flood control problem at Garden Grove the other night. You were anxious to know and you got speakers there to tell you. Business men in the cities are as much dependent on water as you. Without it we'll all dry up as all ghost cities do. It's too serious a subject to neglect.
Missionary work is needed in every Orange county community, particularly in the cities and towns.

Whimsies of O. O. McIntyre

O. O. McIntyre

Nothing is so rapturously exquisite in the phenomenon of sunrise as those suffusing moments
when dawn
gives way to
morning in sudden daybreak.
One moment a sleepy golden aura through a
curtain of long,
cool shadows—
the next a silver radiance of
dew and clear
day.

A philosopher,
Kant as I recall, has compared the breaking of day
to the experience of death. A soul slipping out of death. A soul slipping out of the plenitude
of dark mist into the sunlight
of clearer consciousness and beauty.
But city day-breaks are shorn of much splendor by man-made cruelties. And neglect.

The upward view from my window this morning was aureoled with heavenly tints. Dawn was brushing its first faint pink and in the background was the gleam
of the finger-like Chrysler spire
in prophetic point. Further south
the Empire shaft, like a needed
nimbus, pierced the haze.

But below the rattle of garbage
cans, the honk of taxis, a wandering drunk in sway of indecision
at the curb and a furtive, shawled hag peering into a refuse bin. Daybreak to be inspirational should offer sheep pasturing the hillside.
Doves at the fountain. A rooster in shrill bravado.

There's a growing conviction
that Paris as a cosmopolitan center, the world's apex in pleasure
and shopping, the gayest of cities,
is in the shadows. Paris is an idea, the peacockings of the ultimate in extravagance and giddy-
p. That idea has vanished in mass consciousness. Once the mix of European travel, horries now pass through, from depot to depot, or even avoid it where such routing is possible. Much of the decline is the fault of Paris and much is due to economic eclipse.

I swirl a tattered cape to two regimental fall colors—grape juice and oxblood red. They comprise a mixture of dash, solidity and imperial splendor. I saw a Myrna Loyish lady sheathed in an ox-
blood creation step down the narrow white steps of the Colony today. There was a bevy of other stylishly bedecked ladies awaiting their limousines but all eyes were on her. Another color deserving renewance—russet brown. It's autumnal and quiet, suggesting the musk-smelling days when ladies were faintly and knights were bored.

Man expresses his color complex chiefly in what Beaunash calls cravats. For awhile his shirts were allowed to scream but they are back to faint hues again.
Only his tie may go gay. Woodrow Wilson at Princeton once confided a hanker for a bright red
tie. Justice Hughes might have been president had he succumbed
to something dashing by Sulka.
The male's suppression of color is due largely to the feminine frown.
The tie is the understated adornment in thought with race tracks, saloons, gambling and the bordello. Now and then some dignified gallant will break halter and gallop out in a red tie. But he meets people with a self conscious grin and apology. A boy caught in the jam pot. That should not be.

We have dined several times
recently at a venerable house shack-
ed in the loneliness of nearby Jersey meads. One motor through a mystery novel atmosphere,
swamps, clinging smell of dank
sea-weed and prickle of fire-flies.
A widow woman cooks meals for a limited number upon telephone requests. To help educate two daughters. The house has a scab-rous outside, and inside the low
dark roof-beams and blackened air
of age perpetuate the general gloom. Yet the minute serving starts the rooms take on a hearty shine, dignity. The sing of the tea kettle is like distant, thin
murmurs of a cathedral organ, whispering down the nave. Nothing benigns material life, makes glorious inglorious surroundings,
like satisfying hugner with satisfying food. Such as cut up fried chicken with real cream gravy,
corn pone, juicy golden bantam
corn, crab-apple jelly and cellar-crooked butterfrit.

Those worldly novelettes, so brimming with White Way Manners and morals, that Faith Bal-win turns out always amaze with their fervor and truism. Her declassé ladies and hard-bitten
chisellers have the ring of reality.
Yet Miss Baldwin is one of our most domesticated authors, one whose devoirs to her children and household have made her an idol
of neighbors in a serene residential reach of Brooklyn. She sees more in a half hour's visit to a night club than habitues see in seasons.
And she can set it down so faithfully, so graphically, that it becomes a story not easily forgot.

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—The President's forthcoming trip
across-country is to be no pleasure tour.

Despite the breezy confidence of Jim Farley about the political state of the country, the inner circle
is as agitated as a Warm Springs aspen in a Georgia gale.

Just within the last few weeks,
reports from the west have reached their ears, adding—if that is possible—to their agitation. The west is where Roosevelt is supposed to hold four aces and the joker.

But apparently it has gone glacial. Jim Farley noticed this when he was on the Pacific coast.
The damage is reported to be not beyond repair, and the President, one of the most astute politicians in the country, is described by his advisers as champing at the bit to get busy repairing it.

This was behind his letter assuring business a "breathing spell." It was pure campaign literature.

Obviously also, this is behind his trip across the continent. It is to his first re-election campaign appearance.

One main object of the tour is to put a quietus on whispers regarding his physical and mental condition.

The President has no illusions
that he will not have a man's-sized fight in 1936. And he is getting ready for it.

HOUSE OF BANKHEAD

THE House of Bankhead is the latest addition to the list of family office holders. Here is the clerk's representation on the federal payroll:

Senator John H. Bankhead,
$10,000 a year.

Representative William B.
Bankhead, John's brother, $10-000 a year. Elected Democratic floor leader on the opening day
of the last session, he never appeared thereafter because of illness.

Henry Bankhead, brother, commercial attaché of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, $7,000 a year.

John E. Bankhead, jr., nephew,
assistant clerk in the department of agriculture, $1,600 a year.

Thomas M. Owens, nephew, chief of the division of accessions of the new archives department, $4,600 a year. Owens is a trained archivist, had charge of reorganizing the archives of the state of Alabama.

Charles Crowe, son-in-law of Senator Bankhead and his secretary, $3,900 a year.

EXIT FARLEY

THERE is just one factor holding up the retirement of Big Jim Farley as postmaster general. This is the problem of getting someone to take his place.

Jim wants to pass it on to Frank Walker. But Frank, one of the shyest, most generous, and naive members of the administration, demurs. To Frank, the job of being postmaster general is equivalent to being taken out and flogged before breakfast every morning.

Frank works hard, plunks down
money by the thousands for Democracy, winces at every word written about him, and absolutely refuses to take any bows before the footlights.

So Farley has recently turned to the possibility of Dan Roper.

He thinks Uncle Dan could handle
the more political job of postmaster general, while Walker could be induced to take the more quiescent
post of secretary of commerce.

Unless the President finds someone else to take Jim Farley's place, some insiders think this may be the solution.

IMPRISONED BILBO

MORE than a decade has passed since Senator Bilbo served a term in jail, but he has not forgotten.

That is why he and Senator
Pat Harrison, both of Mississippi,
are staging a small scale civil war
between themselves over the appointment of Edwin R. Holmes as U. S. judge on the fifth circuit court of appeals.

It was Judge Holmes who jailed
Bilbo.

Bilbo was called as a witness in a $100,000 suit brought by a woman against Governor Russell,
his political enemy. Bilbo refused to appear.

Holmes, who presided over the case, sentenced him to 30 days and $100 fine. Then he reduced the jail term to 10 days.

Bilbo, who had finished one term as governor, sent for his secretary and spent the 10 days in jail planning to win the governor-ship again. He did.

Judge Holmes is son-in-law of John Sharpe Williams, Mississippi's
famous mint-julep-drinking senator. But Bilbo is out to block his appointment until the cows come home.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

THE White House fountain facing the treasury has been stocked with the largest sized gold-fish in Washington—and for a reason. For months the caretaker of the grounds are happy.

Bank-and-file steel workers
who sought to oust Mike Tighe, 78-year-old head of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers, and were themselves expelled from the union for their insurgency, have scored an important victory. Tighe has been compelled to reinstate them. Now the rebels are organizing to "give him the works" at the next election.

The senate interstate commerce committee, under the chairmanship of Montana's Burton K. Wheeler, hung up a high-water mark for legislative enactments last session. It reported out and passed: The holding company bill, the bus regulation bill, Guffey coal bill, the railroad pension act, a measure liberalizing the railroad bankruptcy law, plus a resolution authorizing a $750,000
investigation of the A. T. & T., and another resolution authorizing a $150,000 investigation of gold marketing by the federal trade commission. . . . Major General Malin Craig, head of the Army War college, is grandson of a general in the Civil war. His wife also is the daughter of a general. His father, brother and only son all are army officers.

Twenty-Five Years Ago

SEPT. 14, 1910

Mr. and Mrs. George R. Smith
and their daughter, Mrs. Ella Fyfe, removed yesterday from the Richmond hotel to their beautiful and picturesque new home on French street. They have lived at the Richmond for many years,
and will be greatly missed by their
many friends.

Mrs. W. L. Tubbs returned last evening from a two-days visit in Los Angeles with her brother.

Mrs. A. J. Crookshank was hostess yesterday afternoon to the Inter Sea club at her home on Spurgeon street. On account of the warmth of the day, a pleasant time was spent on the lawn with needlework and conversation.

Maurice A. Cain left for Los Angeles today, where he will finish up his law course at U. S. C.
by taking a year's post-graduate course.

The melancholy day has gone,
the saddest of the year,
The day when school begins again
and washcloths reappear.
When combs and brushes are brought out,
And nails are trimmed and
cleaned,
All for the very small amount of knowledge that is gleaned.

Gifford Pinchot and his brother,
Amos Pinchot, are en route to Avalon where they will spend two weeks fishing. They will return from Catalina island to Los Angeles, September 28.

EDITOR'S NOTE—Here is an informative, analytical daily feature on current topics. The opinions expressed in this column are not necessarily the same as those held by The Journal.

On a recent Sunday evening
Chicago motorists, returning to the city, were amazed to hear a voice from the sky advising them about traffic conditions. From their own radio sets drivers learned which roads to avoid, which were the most congested, and which would offer the readiest travel homeward. It was a new and surprising reform in process of experimentation. Success was so good that plans are evolving for regular installation of such service.

One can see vast possibilities
in such a system. Looking down with powerful magnifiers traffic
directors may survey the whole panorama. Congested streets can be readily distinguished. Traffic may get home smiling rather than fuming mad. Tempers will be spared; fenders may escape marcelling. Motoring may again become a pleasure and Sunday afternoon a blessing. The appalling week-end death rate may be markedly reduced.

The motor car has been a significant factor in decentralizing
the teeming human hives which scar the map of America. Fast transportation was thought to be the one solution to the problem.
Suburban areas took on more importance. The automobile, reaching its best at the hands of American inventors, promised release
from insufferable conditions.

We heralded the automobile as
a great saver of nerves and dis-
gestion, taking harassed humanity
away from teeming centers and carrying them joyfully to rippling
beaches, wooded highlands and laughing dells. So we fooled ourselves.

But of what use were all these musings and communions with playful nature if one must thrash
his way through frantic mobs who lose all sense of courtesy in their homeward haste? Choking exhaust, blaring horns and death-jumping gymnastics do much to erase the memory of lapping
waves and whispering forests and mountain daisies. Any device to carry our recreational benefits safely home with us is to be most fondly wished. May guidance from the sky sweep quickly over the land.

Sky Guides As Aid to Traffic Congestion

But twenty million motor cars,
most of them never getting more than 25 miles from city limits,
themselves present a formidable problem. With enough cars for all the people of the country to travel at the same time, and with
most of them trying to do it,
conditions have become impossible.
Nothing in modern life is so absolutely shattering to one's morale,
so destructive of decent conduct,
as getting caught in dense Sunday evening traffic in the environs of any American city.

We heralded the automobile as

Cooling couples seeking informa-

Correspondent wants to know,
why are so many women in business life. My answer might not be correct, but it would be something like this: The indolence of man is woman's opportunity.

Howard Hughes selected Friday
the thirteenth to "crack-up," or crack down—got to get some mechanic to tell me which is correct.
Anyway, he escaped without personal injury, and that's the best part about the accident. Oh, well,
a Hughes is not easily discouraged.
Howard's grandad was a fighter.
Never knew him to "quit" but once, and that wasn't because he lost a case, but to assist a friend.
He was one of the ablest lawyers
in Iowa and Northeastern Missouri. If Howard was giving grandad a ride today from Lancaster, Mo., to Keokuk, Iowa, he would only have to say to him,
"get in," and "get out."

Introductions: "What's the name?" Repeated. Soon as the party has gone away you inquire:
"What did you say his name is?"
